At Nu Skin, we make it a priority to not test cosmetic products on animals, nor do we request others to test on our behalf (unless mandated by law and government regulatory agencies). We evaluate our personal care products in clinical tests on human volunteer panels to ensure the efficacy and safety of our products. In markets where animal testing is mandated, we make every effort to do it in an ethical, humane, cruelty-free manner. You can find our official statement here: Do you test on Animals?
